INTERNATIONAL CONFERENCE ON LOCAL KNOWLEDGE 2015 Local Knowledge: Axis of Global Knowledge

The organisers of the Regional Conference on Local Knowledge (RCLK) have embarked on a new initiative by expanding the scholarly discourse on Local Knowledge through its Regional Conferences since 2011 onto the international stage in 2015. This initiative is known as the International Conference on Local Knowledge (ICLK). This inaugural international conference is organised by Universiti Sains Malaysia in collaboration with Institut Teknologi Bandung (ITB), Universitas Langlangbuana (UNLA) and Universitas Pasundan (UNPAS), Indonesia. ICLK would therefore like to invite experts, scholars and practitioners to the conference which will be held from 14th - 16th October 2015 in Bandung, Indonesia. The focus of this conference is to investigate local epistemology and its adaptability towards social transformation. Thus, this conference will be a venue to present new findings, insights and experiences in specific areas of study on Local Knowledge (LK) from all over the world.

LOCAL KNOWLEDGE

Local knowledge refers to knowledge and expertise which originate from local and indigenous cultures that have developed over time. Its practices have been absorbed naturally and effortlessly into the local communities. The study on LK is aimed at enabling social transformation through a paradigm shift that forefronts local epistemology.
